

We Need Your Help!

You're the expert! We need your help to make it easier, safer, and more fun to get around Estacada. Let's talk about the transportation challenges you face and share your ideas to make our transportation system better.

But first ... Why are we planning?

Estacada is growing! Our community is a great place to live, and in the future more people will be walking, biking, and driving around town.

We can prepare for growth by thinking about:

- What transportation problems do we need to solve now?
- What problems might get worse in the future?

Let's talk about transportation challenges ...

For YOU...

Many communities have problems with traffic, rough streets, missing sidewalks and crosswalks, or have few options for people who can't drive.

What kinds of transportation challenges do YOU face each day? Think about...

- What makes you feel safe or unsafe as you travel around Estacada?
- Can you easily get where you need to go inside Estacada? What about outside Estacada?
- Can you get where you want to go without a car? If not, why not?

For OTHER people...

Transportation should help everyone get where they need to go ... to school, shopping, jobs, healthcare, and other important services.

Think about OTHER people in Estacada. What are transportation challenges for...

- Someone with less money?
- Someone without a car?
- Someone who uses a wheelchair?
- Someone living far from school or work?
- Someone who doesn't speak English?

Your ideas can help improve transportation in Estacada. Submit your ideas and learn more on the project website: cityofestacada.org/TSP.

What happens next?

The City's transportation planning team will study these problems and create a list of possible solutions. We'll ask the public and City Council for more feedback about the solutions, which may become projects in the future.
